

October 7, 2008

For Immediate Release
Tammy McDaniel, PR Director
Work Like A Dog Books
706-253-9002
PR@WorkLikeADogBooks.com
www.WorkLikeADogBooks.com

WORK LIKE A DOG BOOKS INTRODUCES THE FIRST IN A CAREER SERIES TO CELEBRATE HUMOR IN THE WORKPLACE

Atlanta, GA – Most people spend a third of their lives working. As such, humor and oddities are bound to happen. Abigail Van Buren once wrote, “If we could sell our experiences for what they cost us, we’d all be millionaires.”

A new book, All In a Day’s Work for Real Estate Agents: Humorous and Heartwarming Stories (Work Like A Dog Books, January 2009, $14.95), takes that premise to the extreme with more than 100 real-life stories detailing funny, uplifting and one-of-a-kind experiences of real estate agents working in 44 states and Canada.

Believed to be the first of its kind, All In a Day’s Work for Real Estate Agents: Humorous and Heartwarming Stories is designed to celebrate and honor the real estate profession. At the same time, it gives readers a seldom seen, non-glamorous side of the realities of being a real estate agent. It is the first book in a career series by, appropriately enough, an independent publisher named Work Like A Dog Books. Other titles planned in the near future will focus on women in business, nurses, flight attendants, mail carriers, librarians and people with disabilities. Additional career areas are expected to be added.

Yes, Murphy’s Law is alive and well, particularly in the workplace. Stories in this first career book go far beyond the ordinary. Whether it’s an agent asked to be a client’s birthing coach, finding dead bodies, disappearing houses, or saving a client’s life, these are truly one-of-a-kind, unforgettable experiences.

“At a time when humor is in short supply all across this country, this book is meant to be a respite, a distraction or a mini-vacation if you will from the day-to-day challenges of selling real estate,” says the book’s author, TC McClenning, who has worked in real estate public relations, marketing consulting and business writing for nearly 15 years. “Personally, I like to say that buying and reading this book is cheaper than therapy, as laughter can be the best medicine of all!”

Work Like A Dog Books plans to donate a portion of the proceeds from the sale of each book to charity. Because this first book deals with real estate agents who help people find new homes, the publisher will donate funds to charities that assist with helping homeless families and homeless pets. A spokesperson for the company said, “We don’t want to jump on the bandwagon of the biggest charities in these areas who are already receiving a lot of attention and funding, but we will focus instead on lesser known charities who could more desperately use the donation.”

Charities being assisted will regularly be updated on the publisher’s website, www.WorkLikeaDogBooks.com, complete with links to learn more about the organizations. Charities assisted will vary by book and will be in line with each career topic.

To learn more about this career series, to read a couple excerpts from this first book, or for information on how to submit your own funny or touching career experiences for the All In a Day’s Work series, visit www.WorkLikeaDogBooks.com or call 706-253-9002.

###

* Book cover art and company logo available on publisher’s web site. ***

All In a Day’s Work for Real Estate Agents: Humorous and Heartwarming Stories,
By TC McClenning
ISBN 978-0-9820907-1-8
304 pages, 5.6 x 8.5 trim size, copyright 2009
$14.95

Please send a copy of your review or coverage.
(Work Like A Dog Books, PO Box 4713, Canton, GA 30114)